

Abstract

The present invention related to methods and reagents for generating and using activating mutations of receptors and ion channels.

2009-09-01